

ABSTRACT

Thesis education on «Organizational-economic sustainable development of the company (for example «JSC «Myronivsky hliboproduct »))»

It contains 107 pages, 15 tables, 13 figures. The list of references includes 38 items.

The aim of the thesis is to determine the nature of sustainable development and especially its provision for company.

Methods: in the course of the thesis educational qualification of "Bachelor" used a set of general and specific scientific methods, namely economic analysis, financial analysis, principles of sustainable development.

The results of the: For analytical information being used for statistical reporting, internal, particularly financial reporting. Information base study were: the economic literature and periodicals, materials of the State Statistics of Ukraine, enterprise development program and the results of research carried out by the author.

Recommendations for the use of work: The result of it was argued and proposed ways of improvement organizational and economic and sustainable development of the company, providing a comprehensive approach surplus component of social responsibility, economic growth and environmental safety, taking into account industry specifics.

Keywords: sustainable development, social responsibility, economic growth, environmental security.