

ABSTRACT

This thesis first (bachelor) level of higher education on "Improving efficiency of industrial enterprises" contains 108 pages, 23 tables, 9 figures, 10 formulas and 2 applications. The list of references includes 30 items.

The purpose of the work is to justify ways to increase efficiency of industrial enterprises. Based on the calculations of these indicators management company must adjust production processes, improve production management enterprises to improve production efficiency.

Research methods. We used a set of general and specific scientific methods, systems approach, methods of economic and statistical analysis, grouping, graphical modeling organizational structures, peer review

Results of the study will allow domestic industrial enterprises to use in practice, the proposed system improvement tools to improve production efficiency of the enterprise

Results of the study can be used by enterprises, including JSC "Mostobud" in order to improve production efficiency, which will ensure its profitability and competitiveness.

Formed in the proposal in areas of investment processes as important prerequisites for competitive development of the company, can be used to improve the strategy of concentrated growth, since the company does not aim to change industry or product development.