

The subject of the course "Financial Management" - management processes and organizational and economic support of the financial industry.

"Financial Management" is a discipline, combining both specific and interdisciplinary knowledge. Special features reflect knowledge of the industry, which includes enterprise. The study of this discipline is based on concepts and theory concepts of financial management, investment and operating activities of the enterprise.

Methodological arsenal discipline "Financial management" includes general scientific and special methods of knowledge (research).

The course has a block structure includes lectures and workshops, which are given examples of conduct financial activities on domestic and foreign enterprises, and study various approaches to the use of various financial sources and management of enterprises.

The purpose and objectives of the course

The purpose of the credit module is to familiarize students with the basic approaches to the management of the system of monetary relations business entity associated with the formation, use and investment of financial resources in the process of production and economic activity/

Objectives of the course lies in mastering tools and technology financial management company.